International vision

Learn to communicate

Purpose

To express to the international community that Taiwan schools are taking action in response to the United Nations' goal of sustainable development and the importance that Taiwan students attach to the issue of climate change.

Students are encouraged to look at the issue of climate change from a broader international perspective, and to strengthen their reflective skills and awareness of the problem, so that they can take concrete action from their own perspective.

To provide more diverse channels for teachers to share their teaching experiences related to SDGs and to enhance opportunities to promote international education collaboration.

The live webcast will attract more domestic and international schools to use the various resources of the IETW2.0 Website to enhance international exchange opportunities for teachers and students from home and abroad.

Features
