

Introduction to Hsinchu County Hukou High School

Hsinchu County Hukou High School, located in Hukou Township, Hsinchu County, was established in 1953 and is a six-year high school. This school comprises junior high classes, vocational classes and ordinary high classes, including one PE class. Students in vocational classes major in business management. It is a small and beautiful high school with a long history in Hukou area. "Hukou Old Street" is a cultural sightseeing spot with historical significance nearby.

Professional faculty -- About 80% of the teachers with a master's degree, excellent competence and rich teaching experience.

Diversified learning environment -- high school general subjects (including liberal arts and sciences), business management subjects, physical education classes and art-talent classes.

Abundant teaching resources -- Introducing other high or vocational schools and university resources to assist in career exploration and flexible teaching.

Diversified exhibition ability and autonomy -- Enriching the diversified exploration of courses, cultivating independent learning, and students' individual talents.

Cultivate new talents in the future -- Paying equal attention to information, sciences and humanities, and moving towards bilingual education to expand international horizons.

Sustainable Development Goals & Interdisciplinary learning -- theme-based inquiry based on SDGs and cultivation of global citizens.

The school's vision is "Health, Morality, Adaptability, and Excellence." The goal aims to establish a high-quality high school with an international perspective.